MY APPROACH

I believe that every child can be helped to tap into the unlimited potential of their brain by understanding how it learns movement, thoughts, and emotions—all of which make up the whole human being.

When the body is supported, nervous system regulated and the relationship is real neuroplasticity can do it's magic.

I WORK WITH

- Children with special needs (autism, neuromotor and other developmental challenges)
- Children with speech delays
- Families who want to understand and support their children better
- Professionals who work with children
